

HUMAN RIGHTS

• Introduction

The Eastern International Human Rights Conference is scheduled to be held by Bagheral Uloom University and Islamic Culture and Communication Organization next year. This conference aims to help prepare and provide scientific literature with the aim of reaching the principles and rules of "Eastern Human Rights". In this regard, monthly meetings on related topics are planned and experts and professors of this field are invited to present articles and speeches in these meetings. The results of these meetings will help to provide the necessary literature about the topics of the conference.

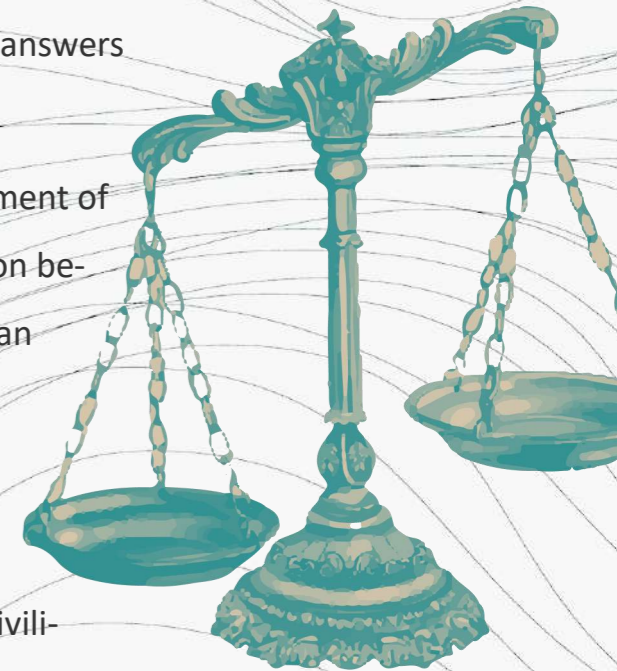

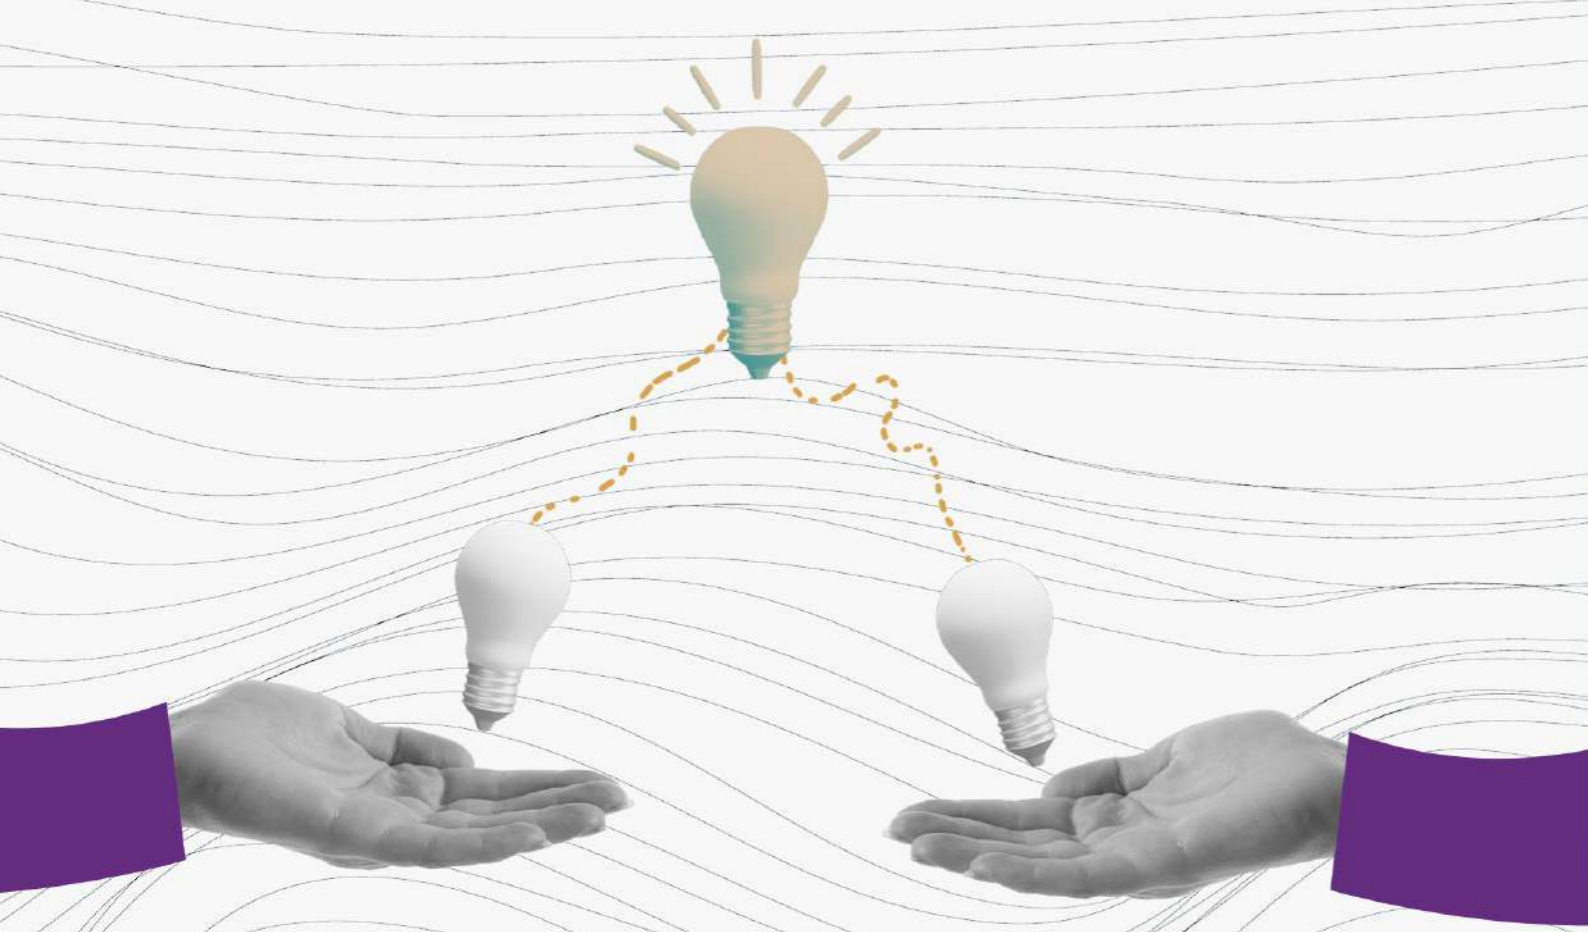

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE

The Eastern International Conference on Human Rights should be able to obtain principles and rules from the "Eastern Human Rights" institution and prepare the grounds for criticizing and correcting the gaps in the current human rights documents and, if necessary, propose a replacement document. To achieve this goal, it is necessary to study the following results:

- Creating intellectual and scientific synergy to shape a new discourse in the world's academic space on the issue of Eastern human rights
- Taking advantage of the common capacities of culture, civilizations and religions to provide the opportunity for dialogue, alignment, coalition and theoretical consensus in criticizing the gaps in the current human rights system.
- Creating a scientific network to activate the scientific and specialized capacities of scientific centers and human rights thinkers.

- Producing and promoting human rights knowledge and discourse with an Eastern approach and providing answers and solutions to human rights problems
- Proposing suitable structures for the development of sustainable and continuous scientific cooperation between human rights activists and thinkers with an Eastern approach.
- Providing the basis for cooperation and understanding in order to propose human rights documents based on the diversity of cultures, civilizations and religions and with an Eastern approach.
- Developing philosophical foundations and principles and basic theories and adapting them to human rights issues to produce knowledge, literature and academic resources in criticizing existing human rights and developing human rights with an Eastern approach.

SUGGESTED TOPICS

Since the purpose of holding the International Conference of "Eastern Human Rights" is to obtain the principles and rules of the "Eastern Human Rights" institution and prepare the grounds for criticizing and correcting the gaps in the current human rights documents, it is necessary to "Human rights" should be considered from the perspective of the plurality of Eastern cultures, civilizations and religions, and the required scientific literature on human rights issues should be provided with an Eastern approach. Based on this, it is expected to provide criticism and opinion on the following topics with an eastern approach:

- The capacities of Eastern culture, civilization and ideas to solve human rights challenges

- Fundamentals, principles and general rules of human rights with an eastern approach

- Challenges of the human rights system in providing the diversity and plurality of cultures and civilizations and the rights of religious followers from the perspective of:

1. Philosophy of human rights
2. Sociological challenges
3. Historical challenges
4. The possibility of a dual system of human rights

- Theories of legal responsibility of subjects of international law regarding the diversity and plurality of cultures and civilizations and followers of religions.

Civil Rights

1. The right to life;
2. Privacy
3. Human dignity
4. Restoring dignity and honor
5. The right to individual (and social) freedom
6. The right to security
7. No slavery
8. The right to freedom of expression
9. The principle of innocence until the crime is proven
10. The right to a fair trial;

- Feasibility of human rights institution with Eastern approach

Political rights

1. The right to political freedom; the right to freedom of vote and choice;
2. The right to nationality, citizenship; seeking asylum; the right to freedom of movement and immigration;

Cultural rights

1. Right to choose religion and belief
2. Cultural and sports rights
3. The right to education
4. The right to worship freely
5. The right to assembly
6. The right to leisure time
7. The right to social welfare

Economic rights

1. Right of ownership
2. The right to livelihood
3. The right to choose a job

Social rights

1. The right to equality and non-discrimination
2. The right to social security
3. The right to social security (food, clothing, housing, medical care)
4. The right to form a family; and becoming parents

Other subjects

1. Human rights consequences of globalization
2. War, peace, violence, terrorism
3. Women, gender, gender justice
4. Citizenship and participation
5. Freedom of speech and media
6. Discrimination and oppression
7. Health and safety
8. Indigenous rights
9. Environment
10. Child
11. The global Internet network and virtual space
12. Disabled people
13. Education
14. Employment
15. Social justice
16. Intergenerational justice
17. Economic justice, freedom of trade, wealth distribution, class gap, poverty

